Risk Project from PEOShips IDE Service Center

A risk has five data sets that make up the total risk: Detail, Assessment, Mitigation, Contingency and Resolution. The risk details are shown above. The details are updated as the risk goes through the risk management process.

You have been assigned a risk by the Risk Group Coordinator. Based on the description of the risk you are requested to determine the probability and consequence of the risk. The probability grid divided into five categories per industry standard and can be categorized as show below.
